

Alumni Quarterly Social To Be Held February 7

Embarking on its previously chartered course, the Alumni Association of Loyola College will present the first in its series of quarterly socials on Thursday night, February 7, in the Recreation Room of the Gymnasium at 8 p. m.

Mr. Jerome J. Egan, '32, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee has extended a cordial invitation to all the grads to be present. There will be no admission charged.

Amendments Proposed

Several important amendments to the Constitution of the Alumni Association are to be proposed at this social. These changes will be voted on at a later gathering.

Alumni President Anselm Sodaro explained, "The main part of the evening will be devoted to a social, with refreshments and games provided, along with an opportunity to renew acquaintances and meet those of your classmates who have returned from overseas".

Farrell, Conway On Committee

Aiding Mr. Egan with the arrangements for the entertainment are two other committee members, Mr. John W. Farrell, '17, a former president of the Association, and Mr. John B. Conway, '27.

Physicians Hear Krause's Speech

If an apple a day keeps the doctor away, then several baskets-ful will be needed here on the night of January 31, 1946.

On that Thursday, members of the Alumni Physicians Group will conduct a meeting in the Recreation Room of the Gym at 8:15. Dr. John A. O'Connor, '18, a member of the surgical staff at Mercy Hospital, will preside as chairman.

Educators Best Qualified To Carry On Process Of Readjusting Veteran-General Omar Bradley

by Robert E. Hiltz

"We have set up various advisory groups in schools and have gotten the educators themselves to counsel the veterans, to tell them whether or not to go on to school or to take apprentice training.

"These men are much better qualified for this work than any personnel we have. With this process of educational readjustment running from six to eight years, we think it is much better to use experts. That's their business."

General Omar H. Bradley, Director of the Veterans Administration, sat in his office at Vermont and H Streets in Washington and explained the motive behind the Administration's work.

Headed Infantry In Europe

A year ago, General Bradley was not behind a desk in Washington, but was planning the strategy for the infantry in the invasion of Europe. He is a tall man about six feet in height. His head is grey and slightly bald above the forehead. His voice was soft as he greeted me and throughout the interview he maintained a pleasing and unaffected composure.

dications that this man had been out of the country. No one could tell from his undecorated chest and plain overseas jacket that he had once been in charge of the dough-boys of World War II. Four gold stars lined the crest of each shoulder.

Dodderidge Arranges Interview

Mr. William H. Dodderidge, Administrative Officer, had arranged the interview for 10 o'clock on the morning of Tuesday, January 8.

Evening School Installs More Fields Of Study

Two new fields of study and nine professors have just been added to the curriculum of the Evening School of Adult Education's second semester which began Monday night, January 21. The new departments which were introduced are in Education and Labor Relations.

Because of the great interest in the School of Business Administration, new courses have been added. One of these, Executive Accounting, under Mr. John E. Sweitzer, Chairman of the Department of Business Administration, enables the students to meet the requirements of the junior executive, the engineer, the commercial teacher, the attorney and the general college student.

Loyola Graduates Teaching

A Loyola College graduate, Mr. Sweitzer has his B.B.A. from the University of Baltimore, his M.A. from New York University, and is a Certified Public Accountant.

Mr. Charles R. Gellner, '40, now studying for a doctorate in history at Georgetown University, is teaching French.

In the English department, the new professor is Mr. P. Edward Kaltenbach, '42. He is doing graduate work at Johns Hopkins University.

The chairman of the new Industrial Relations Department is the Rev. Van Francis Christoph, S.J., member of the faculty of the Catho-

Batting 1,000 for the year 1945-1946, Johnny Grimm and his Orchestra will return to play at the Freshman Jamboree on Saturday night, January 26.

Tickets are priced at $1.80 a couple. The dance will be held in the College Gym from 9 till 1, and will be informal.

To Feature Armstrong, Thomas

In prying the lid off the 1946 social season, Johnny Grimm will feature Jack Armstrong, his All-American second trumpet player, and Joe Thomas, second tenor saxophone artist.

Prior to this dance, Grimm was contracted to play for the only two dances held thus far at Loyola since September.

Enoch Dance Chairman

Refreshments will be handled by Fenwick Edelen, tickets by John Riley, decorations by John Hohman and publicity by Paul Collins and Joseph Parlett.

Invitations to attend the dance have been sent to the Alumni, both those living in Baltimore and those just returned from services.

Sodality Hop Stars Slade

Emphasizing the social side of the Sodality Union of Baltimore, Mount Saint Agnes Junior College, Notre Dame of Maryland and Loyola College will combine forces to sponsor the Union's annual dance on Friday night, February 15, 1946, in the Gymnasium at Evergreen.

Tickets are priced at $1.80 a couple. The affair will begin at 9 and continue on till 1. By vote of the members of the Union, their dance will be informal.

Bill Slade's Orchestra

Bill Slade and his music makers have been signed to render the latest popular tunes. This will mark Slade's first appearance at Loyola College.

Jack Sweeney, of Loyola College, is Chairman of the Dance Committee. Assisting him are Patricia Elly and Mary Wintz, of Notre Dame.

Valentine Day Theme

Decorations, to be handled by the girls from Notre Dame and the Mount, will stress a theme of Valentine's Day.

Remote plans for the dance were made by members of the Executive Committee in a meeting on January 14 at Loyola. The next day, all the assembled representatives from all three member colleges convened at Mount Saint Agnes.

To raise funds for a new project, to be announced later, they decided to sponsor the dance at this time.

Loyola College is to be the scene of the next Sodality Union meeting. A social will follow this meeting in the Rec Room of the Gymnasium.

Accounting Club Picks Greenberg As New Prexy

Mannes F. Greenberg, Junior class math major and vice-president of the Mathematics Club, received the approval of the members of the newly revived Accounting and Commerce Academy as president of the club this year. Voting took place on December 12, 1945.

Prior to that time, war conditions had forced the Academy to suspend its activities. However, with emphasis placed on Accounting and Business Administration, Mr. Greenberg urged his fellow students to join him for reforming the Accounting Club.

Mr. Doering, S. J., Moderator

Loyola's professor of Accounting, Mr. Rudolph A. Doering, S. J., will act in the capacity of Academy Moderator.

Other students selected for official positions were: John O'Connor, vice-president; Edward Barrett, secretary; Charles Schmidt, treasurer; and Richard Bird, librarian.

Constitution Revised

A specially appointed committee has drawn up and submitted a revised constitution which permits any student interested in business administration to become a member.

Fr. Nugent Theology Head

The Rev. David Nugent, S. J., former Rector of Woodstock College, will lecture on the Epistles of St. Paul next semester. Fr. Nugent holds his A. B. and M. A. from Woodstock and his doctorate in Sacred Theology from the Gregorian University in Rome.

Also teaching in the Theology department with Fr. Nugent is the Rev. Paul F. Palmer, S. J., whose degrees are the same as those of Fr. Nugent. Fr. Palmer's course in the Psychology of Love, Marriage and the Family is notable in that it is treated from the historical, scriptural, dogmatic, social, moral and canonical viewpoints.

Mr. Walter A. Dawkins is teaching Business Mathematics and will teach Statistics next semester. He holds a B. S. degree from Johns Hopkins.

Miss Mary Margaret Toole, of the faculty of the College of Notre Dame of Maryland, is lecturing in Sociology. She has her A. B. from Rosary College and her M. A. from Loyola University, Chicago.

Complete Education Course

Emphasizing the worth of the new School of Education, the Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., Dean of the Evening School of Education, points out that full scope is given to the history, method and psychology of education. Fr. Wise is teaching Special Methods in Secondary Subjects. In addition to his A. B. from Georgetown, his M. A. from Woodstock and his doctorate in Philosophy from the Gregorian University, Fr. Wise is a candidate for a doctorate in Education at Fordham University.

A new course, added to the already extant Psychology Department, is the Psychology of Vocational Guidance given by the Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J. The course deals with the theory and practice of vocational guidance in professional and educational, as well as in business and industrial fields.

Ex-Teachers Visit Campus

Two of Loyola's former professors, the Rev. Richard F. Grady, S. J. and the Rev. Arthur A. North, S. J., returned last month to visit Evergreen.

Both are Catholic Chaplains in the United States Army; each returned from opposite ends of the globe.

Fr. Grady Canisius Dean

Before he came to Loyola College in 1939, Father Grady held the office of Dean of Studies at Canisius College, Buffalo, N. Y.

At Loyola he taught English, Latin and Music and was also Moderator of the Masque and Rapier Dramatic Society. It was under his direction (after he had translated it from Latin) that the medieval play "Cenodoxus" was first performed in the United States.

Frequently Father Grady would take groups of seniors on tours of the war plants in Baltimore. He left Loyola in June, 1942.

He landed in England in July of 1943 and then journeyed to France where he performed his duties as Chaplain. Father Grady left this country on January 5 to return to Paris and the Church of the Madeleine there, where he is to be stationed.

Fr. North In Tokyo

German, History and Theology were the subjects taught by Father North, who also came to Loyola in 1939. He departed from Evergreen in January, 1942 to begin his forty-three months in the service.

He made the long trek with the army from the fighting in New Guinea to Luzon and finally entered Tokyo on the first ship to enter that harbor.

Initial Greyhound Moderators Journey To Foreign Countries

by Thomas L. Lalley

(This is the first in a series of two articles by Mr. Lalley on former Moderators of THE GREYHOUND. The survey will be completed in our next issue)

When the first issue of THE GREYHOUND appeared on October 22, 1927, with the now Rev. Edward W. Tribbe, S. J., as Editor-in-Chief, the paper was under the moderatorship of Mr. Edward A. Ryan, S. J. Mr. Ryan had entered the Novitiate at St. Andrew-on-Hudson, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and had studied philosophy at Weston College, Mass. He was Moderator for only one year. In 1928, he was sent to Louvain University, Belgium, for theological and other studies.

He was ordained at Louvain and spent the customary period of tertianship at Tronchiennes in nearby Flanders. In 1936, Fr. Ryan returned to the United States and is now stationed at Woodstock College as professor of Theology and Scriptural History.

Fr. Hughes Sent To England

The Rev. Thomas C. Hughes, S. J., came here in the Autumn of 1928 as Moderator after his ordination at Woodstock. He had spent his three year period as a regent at Loyola between 1922 and 1925 when he moderated the Loyola, the Senior Yearbook. Fr. Hughes was Moderator for two years but left for England in 1931 to begin his tertianship. He returned to this country in 1932 and is now stationed at Fordham University.

Third Moderator In Chile

The third Moderator, Mr. Gustave A. Weigel, S. J., entered the Society in 1922. Upon completion of his philosophical studies at Woodstock, he came here in 1931 for a year's stay. The next year he was sent back to Woodstock and was ordained there in 1934. Fr. Weigel was then sent to Rome for further study in Dogmatic Theology. Two years later, he was transferred to the Collegio de San Ignacio in Santiago, Chile, where he is today.

In 1932, Mr. Gerard J. Murphy, S. J., moderated THE GREYHOUND in his first years as a regent. Mr. Murphy was transferred the next year to Fordham University where he edited the Fordham Monthly.

After ordination in 1936, Fr. Murphy sailed to the University of Paris for Greek and Latin studies. He remained there until the outbreak of the war when he was forced to return to the United States.

Fr. O'Hara Died In 1938

The late Rev. Francis W. O'Hara, S. J., entered the Society in 1907 at Poughkeepsie and came to Loyola High School in 1914 as professor of Latin and French. He returned to Woodstock a few years later and was co-editor of the Woodstock Letters. Fr. O'Hara was ordained in 1922. He was shifted to Holy Cross College, but a year later went to St. Andrew's for tertianship. In 1925, Fr. O'Hara went overseas to the Philippines to teach at the Ateneo de Manila.

Upon his return in 1933, he came to Loyola and was fifth Moderator of THE GREYHOUND.

The following year, Fr. O'Hara was sent to St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, and later to Fordham. At Fordham, Fr. O'Hara's failing health prevented him from teaching and he was sent to Miami Beach, Florida, to recuperate. Fr. O'Hara died there on March 5, 1938.

Activities ripped and zipped during the holidays—so did the gripes and yips of exams, but the old mongrel eagerly snooped about here and there with the same undying, unquenchable thirst—for black coffee (Not the Sodality Prefect, pleeeeze)—and came up with quite a load of fancy, floundering, foolish tid-bits (get that al-lit-ter-ra-tion). Top of the list is:

HECTIC WEAK-END AT BROWN'S BULGING BUNGA-LOW: Heard quite a bit about Billy (receding hairline) Brown's party . . . another room was hastily thrown up to support the overflowin' crowd . . . those nifty fifties came in handy . . .

FOR THE SAKE OF CURIOSITY: we'd like to know what our sons, namely, Greenberg, Mattingly, Rehak, Bronushas, Schmidt and Hayes do on Friday afternoons . . . not studying for your chosen profession, are you, fellows??? And how are our learned basketeers going to outdo Adolph's kitchen memorandum. Nothing like publicity, boys. Just ask Publicity Mgr. Bob (timekeeper) Hiltz who's been giving extra lessons to his basketball bench assistant. Always raising Kane with somebody . . . What explanation can Paul ("Gentlemen Prefer Blondes"—he tells us) Coffay give to Eileen for Wintzing at her Christmas gift . . . and that corsage, too . . . Best take out liability insurance, Pauly.

CHATEAU COMEDIANS:—or THREE SILENT MUMMIES:—Al (where are the photographs) Barthelme took that fancy footwork too seriously . . . you don't two step on the basketball court . . . must have been first formal fright. John (N. D. Cassanova) Mudd shuns cold weather to take his Sunday afternoon walks . . . "just be sure you're back on time for switchboard, John-neeee . . ." while Joe (hot-lips) Parlett had to play the second fiddle on New Year's Eve. No. 1 girl out of town.

LATE REPORTS FROM THE CAF:—tell us that Andy (The Maestro) Alecce should knock down a good mark in Philosophy, else we guarantee you'll see the craziest haircut that ever hit the college . . . that Buns (2 points is a 'nuff) Vidali is trying to get his own private cheering section "cooked up". That Mrs. Tippy (Loyola's pin-down) Tippett must have eagerly beavered it over the holidays . . . She's the proud possessor of four new teeth . . . guess it was a Christmas gift.

FOR THE LOVELORN LOYOLANS:—We prescribe some cold medicine to Joe (gassing off again) Bronushas who got his ring and frat pin caught in An-nette's clutches . . . as opposed to George (I'm kinda sleepy, fellows) Bardelman who holds that variety is the spice of life . . . While Charles (now where can I sell this one) Schmidt believes that three hours straight driving wears a guy down . . . and Ed (27's my limit, fellows) Rehak has finally decided to bring the old lady to a basketball game.

WE AIN'T TALKIN' MUCH ABOUT:—Tom (Is any body listenin') Gaudreau, who prolonged his leave of absence just in time for the holidays . . . that Bill (Call me "cutie") Wiegand has made application for Uncle Jack's Kittie Klub since he got all those compliments on his "Como" job . . .

ALUMNI DOINGS

By Edward A. Doehler, '30

Alumni In New Diocesan Posts

Loyola Alumni were prominent in the list of diocesan appointments published by the Chancellery at the time of the recent Ordinations. Three of the newly ordained were Loyola men—Fathers Coyne, Cremona and Schwalenberg. Father Coyne is to be assistant at St. Gabriel's Church, Washington; Father Cremona assistant at St. Martin's Church, also in Washington; and Father Schwalenberg, assistant at St. Augustine's Church, Elkridge, Maryland.

Another Alumnus, Rev. Vincent J. Tomalski, '27, has been appointed assistant at Sacred Heart of Mary Church, Grace-land Park.

Class Of '43 Welcomes Father North

The return of Major Arthur A. North, Chaplain Corps, U. S. A., after 43 months in the Pacific area with the famed 32nd Division, was the occasion of another reunion of the Class of January '43. Father North, Student Counsellor at Loyola, was the guest of the class at a dinner at which he renewed acquaintances made in his Loyola days.

Present to welcome Father North were Tom Connor, Dick Gaphardt, Joe Hagner, Joe Huesman, Frank Kearney, George W. McManus, George D. McManus, Ed McGraw, Bob Meara, George Miller, Joe Smith and Bill Thaler.

Maj. Albert Relates Long Odyssey Of Global Travels

by Robert E. Hiltz

Loyola's globe trotting Chaplain, Major John E. Albert, ex. '33, USA, has finally returned to this country after travels that carried him to every continent save South America.

Major Albert returned home to Baltimore on January 6. He wears the Soldier's Medal, the Bronze Star, the Pre-Pearl Harbor ribbon, the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre ribbon with seven stars, the American Theatre ribbon, the World War II Victory ribbon, the Philippine Liberation ribbon and the Presidential Unit Citation with Oak Leaf Cluster.

School Average 79.3, Medal To O'Connor

Class averages for the second quarter ending January 4 were announced by the Rev. Joseph A. d'Inviillers, S. J., Dean of Loyola, as: Seniors: 82.6; Junior B Class: 81.3; Sophomores: 80.4; Juniors: 79.7; September Freshmen: 78.1; and May Freshmen: 75.1.

Total average of the entire college was 79.3.

John O'Connor, of the May Freshman class, won the gold medal for highest average in the first year and also won the award presented to the freshman who attains the highest average in English. O'Connor is president of his class.

Won Scholarship To Rome

From Loyola High School, Major Albert came to Loyola College for one year before entering St. Charles College to study for the priesthood. After two years at St. Mary's Seminary, he won a four year scholarship to the North American College, Rome, where he studied his Theology and was ordained.

During vacation time, he visited such countries as France, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, England, Hungary and Italy.

Sts. Philip and James parish claimed him as one of its assistant pastors from 1937 till 1941.

Army War Show Chaplain

Commissioned a First Lieutenant and made a Catholic Chaplain, Fr. Albert spent eighteen months training with the 175th Infantry of the 29th Division at Camp Meade. The second battalion of the 175th composed the Infantry Company of the Army War Show Task Force of which Major Albert was made Chaplain.

"The purpose of this War Show", pointed out Major Albert, "was to acquaint the public with the organization and training of the Army which was then undergoing vast development for war. Components of all branches were represented and our job was to show the teamwork with which one part worked with all the other components in modern warfare."

4,000,000 Witness Show

"We toured the United States from May till December of 1942, visiting eighteen of the largest cities in the East, Mid-West and South. In particular we stopped at cities that had been turned into war centers."

"Approximately 4,000,000 persons saw our show and we contributed $1,000,000 to Army War Relief."

As Chaplain, Major Albert had to arrange for the recreation of the 2,300 officers and men in the Force at every city they went to.

Sails For India

Following a brief stay at the Harvard Chaplain School, and after serving as Chaplain at Dale Mabry Field, Florida, with the Air Corps, Major Albert embarked for India.

He stopped at Capetown, South Africa, and then went on to Bombay, India. Soon thereafter, he went over the hump to Kunming, China, as Base Chaplain for the Air Force.

"Kunming Climate Ideal"

"Kunming had an ideal climate, with its altitude of 6,200 feet", he explained. "We had to live off the land and all our vegetables had to be boiled to prevent disease."

Major Albert was loud in his praise of the Chinese people, commending their industry and cheerfulness through long years of Civil and World War. "But China", he insisted, "is in need of practically everything".

Chinese Hands Built Fields

"Chinese coolies constructed all of the air fields in China by hand. They would have to break the rocks

Weekly Seminar Starts Feb. 1 In Night School

"Weekly seminars for Night School students will be conducted during February, the first seminar being held on Friday night, February 1 at 8 p. m. in the Library Building", revealed the Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., Dean of the Evening School of Adult Education. There will be no admission fee.

"Speakers for the seminars have already been selected. The topics are subjects of great national interest and each talk will be followed by an informal discussion in which everyone present is invited to join", explained Fr. Wise.

Fr. Comey First Speaker

First speaker in the series of four seminars is the Rev. Dennis J. Comey, S. J., organizer and director of the Institute of Industrial Relations at St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia. His topic is "The Labor School Movement".

Formerly president of St. Peter's College, New Jersey, Fr. Comey studied three years in Europe and has taught at Woodstock College. So successful was he in establishing his labor school at St. Joseph's that several other colleges have organized labor schools under his guidance.

'Communism, Labor' Second Topic

"Communism and Labor" will be the topic of the Rev. John F. Cronin, S. S., at the second seminar on February 8.

Father Cronin is professor of Economics at St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore and is director of the Institute of Catholic Social Studies at Catholic University. He received his Ph. D. from Catholic University in 1935.

In addition to writing pamphlets on "The Path of Duty" and "The Social Crisis and Christian Responsibility", Fr. Cronin is the author of the book "Economics and Society".

Harvard Report Discussed

Fr. Wise will speak at the third seminar on February 15. He has chosen his topic as "The Harvard Report on General Education". Father Wise studied at Georgetown University and Woodstock College. He wrote his doctorate thesis on "Cardinal Newman: His Theory and Knowledge".

Colonel Leo A. Codd, USA, who was graduated from Loyola in 1916, will conclude the series on February 22 with an analysis of "The Marshall Report on World War II".

Law Club Plans 1946 Program

By motion of the attending members, the former Lawyers' Group of the Alumni Association voted to change the name of its organization to "The Loyola Law Club".

Balloting took place on Tuesday, January 8 at the first meeting of the Lawyers for the new year in the Oak Room of the Library Building. George Lochboeler presided.

The next meeting of the Club is scheduled for March. No date has as yet been selected, but the members agreed that the meeting should be preceded by a supper.

Mr. Thomas Grogan was appointed to attend to the arrangements for this meeting.

Monthly meetings are preferred by the lawyers. These meetings will be held at one of the downtown hotels and will be preceded by luncheons for the members.

Cardinals And Catholicity

After three expectant years, Rome and the Christian world finally received, on December 23, the long awaited decree of Our Holy Father, Pope Pius XII, elevating thirty-two prelates of the Church to the Sacred College of Cardinals. For the first time since the early eighteenth century, the College has reached its full quota of seventy. The next day, in a significant Christmas Eve message, the Pope briefly explained the provisions of Canon Law which regulated his selections and then reiterated his fundamental principles for a Christian peace.

The Holy Father named four new Cardinals for the United States to raise, with Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia, the number of our Cardinals to five. The choices were not particularly surprising: Cardinal Spellman, episcopal head of the archdiocese of New York and the U. S. Military Vicar; Cardinal Glennon, the aged but eloquent prelate of St. Louis; Cardinal Stritch, head of the largest diocese in the United States, Chicago; and Cardinal Mooney of Detroit, well known for his work with the labor unions.

The foreign appointments, however, have caused a great deal of comment. The first Canadian Cardinal of English origin was created; in Argentina, a bitter opponent of Peron's fascism, Cardinal Caggiano, was also honored. Two German prelates who continually opposed Hitler, Count von Galen and Konrad von Preysing received the red hat; Cardinal Sapieha of Poland, who publicly welcomed the Russians when they drove through Poland on their way to Berlin and Cardinal y Gracia of Spain, an ardent supporter of Franco's Falange against the Communistic Loyalists, represent perhaps the most opposed of the Pope's selections. In addition, Holland, Australia, China, Armenia, Portuguese Africa and several South American countries were granted Cardinals.

For the first time in many centuries, the non-Italian Cardinals outnumber the Italians. Only four Cardinals were named for Italy and, although the Italians now number forty percent of the College, they no longer exercise that control of Church affairs which they have enjoyed since the death of Adrian VI.

The Holy Father himself acknowledges this shift in control: "... We have been anxious that the greatest number of races and peoples would be represented, so that this creation may portray in a living manner the universality of the Church". Thus the worldwide scope of this administrative reorganization and the worldwide implications which it holds show only too clearly the truth of the Church's claim to that essential mark of Christ's Church, Universality.

Condolences . . .

On behalf of the Faculty and Student Body of Loyola College, THE GREYHOUND wishes to express most sincere condolence to the family of Otto Beyer on the death of his Father and to the family of Robert Bourbon on the death of his brother Louis.

The Editor of THE GREYHOUND
Dear Bob and All The Gang:

Just a few lines to wish you all the best of everything for Christmas and the coming year. I want to take this opportunity to congratulate you on the grand job you and the boys are doing on THE GREYHOUND.

Every copy is a treat and carries me back to the days I spent putting it to bed every three weeks with such well known characters as George Miller, both the McManuses, Carroll Feeley, John Pugh, Joe Huesman, et al. It's a lot of work and a lot of fun—and appreciated more than you'll ever realize by the Alumni, scattered to the far corners of the world.

To The Editor of THE GREYHOUND:
Hi, Bob,

Remember my last furlough? Well, three weeks from the time I left home I was on the boat. It took us just three more weeks to come over. Arriving at Manila, we moved seventy miles inland, to a replacement Depot. Two weeks later I was sent to Manila and given an office job. It's a cinch. We are working with processing and repatriation of PW's and Civilian Internees.

This isn't a bad city; they have regular dance bands that play American tunes. But the city itself is in pretty bad shape. It is all bombed out, all the modern buildings, everything. There are a couple of churches still standing and they are really pretty. Take care of yourself, Bob, and let me hear from you. Say hello to the rest of the gang for me.

The White Tower by James Ramsay Ullman

White Tower is an unscaled mountain which, for the purposes of the plot, is located in a prosaic Swiss valley. Apparently, everybody with any ambition toys with the idea of climbing the Weissturm someday, but they never get around to it. Finally, Mr. Ullman assembles a heterogeneous party of six in the Autumn of 1944 to begin the ascent.

Mr. Ullman aims to please. He has as wide a range of characters and interests as 479 pages allow. An American aviator parachutes from his crippled plane into the same valley where he had spent an idyllic youth. While he recuperates from shock, the love interest waltzes in under the guise of an Austrian Nazi's wife; a degenerate Frenchman introduces himself over a bottle of cognac; and, so that the author can get in a little homily about democracy, a German Wehrmacht officer saunters in. In company with two other more credible characters, a middle-aged English sociologist and a sturdy Swiss guide, the sextet starts climbing.

Once Mr. Ullman manages to stop introducing characters, the story settles down to a rousing adventure. The higher the climbers go, the more tense and less complicated the plot becomes until the story resolves itself in one of the most anticlimactical of chapters. Mr. Ullman is well-known for his earlier book on mountain climbing, High Conquest, and this accounts for his extraordinary skill for authentic detail.

The Perilous Fight by Neil Swanson

The battle of Baltimore in 1814, or more exactly the battle of North Point Road and the bombardment of Fort McHenry, has never been adequately considered by a capable historian before Mr. Swanson. The whole Maryland campaign, including the rout at Bladensburg and the sack of Washington, are almost completely overlooked with regard to its tremendous tactical importance to the rest of the War of 1812. Mr. Swanson has reconstructed the campaign in a lively though spasmodic style. His book will be interesting to all Marylanders.

Somewhere in his opening chapters, Mr. Swanson states in a pontifical parenthesis, "Historians should not be mind readers". However Mr. Swanson continually contradicts himself by little exclamatory and derogatory remarks throughout his opinionated work. He seems to completely lack that calm, dispassionate analysis which is so necessary to a historian or military commentator. Mr. Swanson writes with as much of a chip on his shoulder for Maryland as Senator Claghorn has for the South.

Angels Of Mercy

Twelve months of the year the Red Cross plays its role of Angel of Mercy and of Hope. Twelve months of the year, the Red Cross spreads its mantle of charity over those in need. Twelve months of the year, the Red Cross busies itself with giving. Only once does that Red Cross pause to receive.

1946's Red Cross Fund Campaign is just beginning. That campaign deserves your support. It deserves everything you can give it, and more. Your dollars could never pay for even a part of the charity of the Red Cross, they could never equal the hope instilled in the hearts of our boys overseas. Your money, in your pocketbook, could never have purchased that pack of cigarettes for a war prisoner. But that same money, donated to the Red Cross, can do more than you would ever imagine.

Do you have any doubts as to how much you should give? Ask any hospitalized serviceman or veteran, ask any disaster victims, ask the homeless of war ravaged lands, ask the soldier or sailor who has not called his family. They will tell you that you can't give enough, even if you be a millionaire.

The Red Cross does not ask for itself, only that it may continue to give to others. The Red Cross has never let them down—don't you let the Red Cross down.

Alumni War Veterans Vanquish Greyhounds, 49-39

Blue Jays and Greyhounds scramble for a rebound. Saltysiak, 16, of Loyola, awaits the outcome as Mullineaux, 7, of Hopkins, reaches vainly for the ball.

Sid Roche, 14, Loyola guard, goes high to snare a loose ball. Paul Feeley, 7, and Al Barthelme, 9, of the Green and Gray, stand by to receive the pass. Loyola won, 53-50.

Game Honors 12 Dead Athletes; Thobe, Bocks, Goldberg Cavort

In a game commemorating twelve Loyola athletes killed in service, former Green and Gray hoopsters, all War Veterans, dazzled this year's varsity quint 49-39 at Evergreen on January 5.

Loyola fans, most of them Alumni, packed the gym to see some of Loyola's "greats" launch their former power in downing Lefty Reitz's '45-46 squad.

Fr. Herlihy Reads Citations

To pay tribute to gallant Loyola athletes who died in this war, the Rev. William V. Herlihy, S. J., Faculty Moderator of Athletics, read pre-game citations for each of the twelve deceased warriors.

Those honored were: Francis J. McDonough, Edward M. Russell, Charles A. McCollum, William A. Knell, William T. Goodwin, Frank S. Brown, Frederick C. Cook, George W. Schuncke, John N. Delahay, Bernard Shea, Edward G. Jendrek and W. Paul Boggs.

Wheeled Out Artillery

After a minute of silence and the playing of the Star Spangled Banner, the Veterans wheeled out their artillery and didn't give the fans a moment to rest.

Vic and Franny Bock hurled long passes to key men under the bucket; Bernie Thobe bombarded the netting for 18 points; Barney Goldberg bewildered the defense with his fast cut and pass interceptions.

At halftime the Vets held a 26-23 lead which they worked up to a 49-39 count after one of the wildest and wooliest tilts seen for many a day on the Evergreen court.

Tomcats Victor In 54-40 Tussle

University of Scranton, previous conquerors of City College of New York, defeated the Greyhound basketballers, 54-40, three weeks ago as Loyola's second Pennsylvania invasion of the season ended as disastrously as the first. LaSalle College of Philadelphia edged the Hounds, 45-42, in the campaign opener in the Quaker city.

Loyola Takes 6-2 Lead

Loyola jumped into a brief 6-2 lead after the first four minutes of play, only to see the Tomcats come back to even the count at 10-10 about halfway through the first half.

Goals by Ed Griglock and Mike Denoia sent the home hoopsters off into a 14-10 advantage which they lifted to 25-18 at rest time.

Second Team Plays

Scranton strengthened this lead throughout the first ten minutes of the final canto, then handed the situation over to their second-stringers who finished out the contest.

Barthelme paced Loyola's basket barrage with 14 counters pushed closely by Sid Roche, with ten, and Bardelman with eight.

Green And Gray Thumps Terrors By 58-34 Score

Waltzing to a lop-sided 58-34 score, Loyola's Greyhounds defeated Western Maryland's Green Terrors for its sixth Mason-Dixon Conference win at Evergreen last Saturday.

Thompson came out as top scorer for the evening as he served up seventeen points for the Terrors. Roche weighed in with ten markers to lead the Green and Grey point makers.

Game Lacks Finesse

Despite the over-balanced score and the ineffectual opposition provided by Western Maryland, the Loyola lads failed to play their usual snappy brand of basketball. The Terrors did their best, but lacked the height and experience of the Hounds.

Wrestlers Test Gallaudet Here

Loyola's matmen will make their first appearance of the year next Wednesday night, when they wrestle the Silents of Gallaudet College at Evergreen in a preliminary contest to the court game between the same two schools.

To Enter M-D Tournament

A tentative meet with Hopkins, and entrance into the Mason-Dixon Conference Tournament will round out this year's mat schedule.

Only three members of the squad have had previous wrestling experience. Lohrey, who weighs 210 pounds, and Siems, who weighs 145 pounds, both performed in high school competition last year, and will wrestle in the heavyweight and 145 pound class respectively against the Silents.

Pete Starlings, the other experienced grunt and growler, was undefeated in the 165 pound class three years ago.

Starlings Overweight

At present, however, Starlings is a little overweight, and if he does not wrestle, he will be replaced by either Buchness or Griffin.

Paced by its two forwards, Bardelman and Barthelme, Loyola scored its second victory of the year over the War College of Washington at Washington on Wednesday, January 3, by the score of 62-34.

After a close first half which ended with the Hounds on top 26-20, the Green and Gray raced to its highest score of the year as the home team wilted under the pace. Bardelman and Barthelme led the way with 15 and 12 points respectively, followed closely by Buck Ward with 10 points.

Running With The Hounds

by Charles Schmidt

Four of the five starters on one of the greatest teams to wear the Green and Gray returned once again to the Evergreen gymnasium and treated the fans who saw the game to a glimpse of how a really great team plays together.

Barney Goldberg, Vic and Franny Bock, and Bernie Thobe, all regulars on the championship teams of '40-'41 and '41-'42, were teamed once again to augment by another win their long list of victories. Only this time they beat Loyola. Goldberg and company matched their skill against that of the present varsity squad on Saturday, January 5, and outpassed the Hounds in a fast game to the tune of 49-39.

What the fans, most of whom turned out just to see the champs in action again, really enjoyed was the superb Alumni passing. They passed that ball with such exactness, that had they shot instead of passed, the score would have been unbelievable.

Other highlights of the game were the drive of Thobe, who scored 18 points for the night on layups and rebounds, the dribbling of Goldberg, and the fine set shots of the Bock boys.

With about two seconds remaining in the first half, Franny let one go from mid court that looped high and then whistled through the cords to give the Alumni veterans a three point half time lead.

Although the champs were not in their best shape physically, they were pretty well tuned up, due to the fact that they had been playing for several weeks with the Fourteen Holy Martyrs quint.

The present followers of the Greyhounds were as thrilled on the next Saturday night as the old Loyola fans at the Alumni game, when the Hounds squeezed by Randolph-Macon 42-41 in a true humdinger.

Sid Roche supplied the greatest thrill of the game by sinking a set shot from mid court to give the home boys the final margin of victory.

Loyola proved itself to be exactly one point better than the Yellow Jackets by twice beating them in really close games. The first game saw the Hounds on top 33-32.

The greatest defensive performance of the year was turned in by the Hounds in the game with the Coast Guard Cutters. Behind 32-23 with but eight minutes remaining in the game, the Greyhounds slowed the Cutters and held them to only one basket—two points—for the remainder of the game. At the same time they hit their best stride for the year and chalked up eighteen counters to win the game 41-34.

Loyola's biggest score was against the Army War College which fell before the Hounds 62-34. This was even better than the previous high game of 61-41 against Gallaudet.

Scranton proved to be the hardest nut to crack. In fact, the Hounds couldn't crack it. The Tomcats scratched the Hounds 54 times; 40 weak bites was the Hounds' only answer.

Hopkins got the biggest surprise of their life when the Green and Gray quint played them in fore-court. According to one of their players who bowed out of the game early on fouls, the Jays had spotted the Hounds at several games, and had planned their whole offense against the zone which the Hounds used in these games. The Jays were completely stunned by a surprise change in defense by the Hounds.

Intramural Hoopsters Set To Open League Monday

With the completion of the intramural football league, basketball now steps in and takes the highlight in the lunch time and after school inter-class activities.

The league is scheduled to start on Monday, January 28. All official basketball rules will be used except for the length of time of the games. The games will be played in four quarters of six minutes each. Time between quarters will be one minute, and between halves, three minutes.

Sudden Death Method

In the case of a tie game, the winner will be decided by the "sudden death" method. The team who scores the first two points, or the team with the most points at the end of the three minute session will be the winner. That is, if neither team makes two points during the three minute session, but one team makes one point, that team will win.

Intramural managers will be in charge of the games, and varsity basketball players will referee.

Hustlers Strongest

The Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes each have entered strong teams into the loop. The Sophomore quint—the Hustlers—appears to be the strongest. McGuinness, Coughlin, Laster, Marinelli, Apicella, Sybert, Gately, and Meagher make it a well rounded team for height, speed and experience.

Coast Guard Cutters Split Twin Contests

Playing the first game in Loyola College's double header home games, the U. S. Coast Guard Cutters bowed to Reina Mercedes, 53-40, on Saturday, January 12, and downed the Coast Guard Training Station 50-48 a week later.

Eagles Outrace Hounds, 49-47

American University, last year's Mason-Dixon crown-winner, dealt Loyola its first conference setback of the new campaign by a 49-47 count a month ago in Washington.

Eagles Take Early Lead

Paced by the sharpshooting of the loop's first two scorers of a year ago, Bob Lindeman and Ray Love, the Eagles soared into a 9-6 lead after the first ten minutes of play. Then, baskets by George Bardelman, Sid Roche and Al Barthelme sent the Hounds into a 23-22 half time advantage.

Following the intermission, the host five staged a sustained rally which hoisted them into an 11 point bulge with about eight minutes to go. Sparked by Bardelman and Bill Thaler, Loyola closed the gap to three points, but a foul shot by Lindeman put the Eagles on top to stay.

Foul Shots Decide Outcome

The outcome of the game was decided at the foul line where the victors converted 9 out of twelve, while Loyola sank only 7 out of 22.

Lindeman, of the home team, captured scoring honors for the evening, scoring 23 points on eight field goals and seven out of nine foul shots.

Green And Gray Clips Blue Jays In 53-50 Tussle

Loyola's title bound basketball quint took over second place in the Mason-Dixon Conference race by downing a powerful Hopkins team 53-50 at Homewood on Tuesday, January 15. The game was played before a packed house that stood throughout most of the tilt in a wild frenzy of excitement.

With five minutes remaining in the first half, Hopkins went ahead 23-19. The Greyhounds quickly rebounded, however, as baskets by Barthelme and Ward knotted the score at 23 all. Jolson shot one from the side, Roche slipped in a foul shot for Loyola, and Sandell shot a long one from center court to put the Jays out in front again 27-24.

Jays Lead At Half

Mullinix dropped in a foul shot to increase the margin to four points, with but 30 seconds remaining in the half, Barthelme hooked in one from under the basket to produce the half time score of 28-26.

As the second half opened, Mullinix caged a long one, but baskets by Barthelme and Bardelman plus Saltysiak's foul toss put Loyola in front 31-30.

Sandell then hooked in a beauty from under the basket, and Holub shot one from the side to make the score 34-31, Hopkins.

Hounds Take Lead

At this point, the Hounds took advantage of the game and during the next five minutes increased this margin to 49-39, before the Jays once more came to life and tied together nine straight points to bring the count to 49-48.

Hounds Conquer Randolph Macon 33-32 and 42-41

The Yellow Jackets of Randolph-Macon twice succumbed to the Green and Gray by one point margins during the past six weeks. In both instances, the Hounds were forced to come from behind to eke out the victories. Loyola topped the Jackets 33 to 32 in Ashland on December 14, and won 42-41 two weeks ago on the Evergreen floor.

In the first game at Ashland, Randolph-Macon's spirited quintet was especially adept at passing and ball handling, and rallied to a 17-12 half time lead.

Loyola Utilizes Height

The second half, however, was a different story. Loyola, sparked by the advice of their coach, began to use their height to advantage, and make every shot count.

Big gun for the Green and Gray in this contest was Al Barthelme who netted fifteen points on six field goals and three out of five foul shots.

Al Marandino was high man for the Jackets on only one field goal, and nine out of ten foul shots.

Second Game Like First

The second affair was a repeat of the first. Randolph-Macon started out fast, outpassed the Loyola quint, and took a 23-22 half time advantage. As the second half commenced, the Jackets quickly widened this margin to 33-25, before the Hounds finally caught up to them on field goals by Roche and Barthelme to knot the score at 40-all.

The Jackets again went into the lead as Marandino dropped in a foul shot to take a 41-40 lead with one minute to play remaining.

Meriwell Finish

In a true Meriwell finish, however, with only 45 seconds remaining in the game, Sid Roche sank a long set shot from mid court to give the Hounds the margin of victory.

Roche was also high scorer for Loyola on six field goals. Marandino was again high scorer for the losers and gained scoring honors for the night on six two-pointers and one charity toss to nose out Roche by a single point.

Loyola Shellacs Mt. St. Mary's

Loyola, in registering its fifth conference win of the season against one setback, used all of its reserve power in downing an inexperienced Mt. St. Mary's team 55 to 25 at Emmitsburg last week.

Barthelme and Roche of the first team racked up 16 and 12 counters respectively, while Thaler led the second team into action with 8 markers.

Biasi was high man for the losers with 8 points.

Calvert Hall Edges Victory From B Squad

Calvert Hall's varsity basketballers eked out a 34-15 victory from the College B team last December 11. At no time during the contest, until the victors sank their last two points, was the outcome of the game predictable.

With but a minute remaining in the last quarter, and the Cardinals holding a slim 32-15 margin, Aners snatched a 34-15 victory from the court to finally clinch the game for the high school team.

Basketeers Encounter Washington, Gallaudet

Seeking to avenge a 46-33 setback administered by the Sho'men in last year's Mason-Dixon Tournament opener, Loyola's basketballers will journey to Chestertown tomorrow evening to tangle with Washington College.

The contest will end a busy week for the Greyhounds, who faced Georgetown Monday and Catholic University Wednesday in Washington battles.

First Washington Game

Tomorrow night's melee will also mark the end of the 'Hounds' "first round", Washington being the only conference five on the schedule that Loyola has not already played thus far in the campaign.

Paced by their brother act of Gene and Jim Rook, the Sho'men boast loop victories over Johns Hopkins and Western Maryland, but have bowed to Randolph-Macon and Gallaudet. It was Gene Rook who assured the Maroon and Black of victory in the Hopkins fracas when he caged two long shots in the waning moments of play.

In comparison, Loyola has defeated Randolph-Macon and Gallaudet, Washington's conference conquerors, and also owns a verdict over Johns Hopkins.

Play Gallaudet Wednesday

Next week's hardwood menu offers Gallaudet as the main course in a Mason-Dixon tilt on Wednesday night at Evergreen. The Silents bowed to the Greyhounds, 61-41, in the conference curtain-raiser six weeks ago in Washington.

However, Gallaudet still stands as a formidable foe. Boasting their entire first string of a year ago and two other squad members, the capitol city five has shown steady improvement of late, besting Washington College recently in one of their top efforts of the campaign.

Roy Holcomb, who tallied 17 points against Loyola in the previous set-to, is the big gun of the Silents. One of the top scorers in the loop, the six-foot forward specializes in Western-styled one-hand shots from the outside. Holcomb's chief supporters are Ed Witzcak, captain and center Tom Cuscaden, Dewey Samples and Les Massey.

Gallaudet also claims a conference success over Bridgewater College, but has suffered setbacks at the hands of loop-leading American University and Johns Hopkins.

Fore Court Press Defense

Following several hair-raising battles with Randolph-Macon and Johns Hopkins, Lefty Reitz's cagers have settled down into a less-pulsating stride. Employing a "fore court press" defense to go hand in hand with their shifting zone, the Hounds have been displaying a better brand of basketball than in the earlier part of the campaign, and the recent performances of Al Barthelme, George Bardelman, Sid Roche, Bernie Saltysiak, Buck Ward, Neill Cole and Paul Feeley hint of brighter results in future contests.

Cutters Clipped By Hounds, 41-34

Proving that a good offense is a good defense, the Greyhounds topped the Coast Guard Cutters 41-34 on Tuesday evening, December 11 at Evergreen. The Green and Gray scored eighteen points in the last eight minutes of the game, holding the Cutters to one field goal.

During the first half, the two teams traded baskets with no more than three points separating the teams at any time. The Cutters emerged from this period on the big end of a 24 to 21 count.

As the second half opened, the Cutters jumped to a commanding 32-23 lead before the Hounds began to hit the hoop in the last eight minutes of the game.

Roche was high scorer for the Loyola aggregation with nine points on four goals and one foul shot. He was closely followed by Barthelme, Ward and Saltysiak with seven, Bardelman with six, and Cole with five.

IRC Conference Hears Radcliffe Speak On China

Is there any hope for permanent civil unity in China?

What should be the United States' relation with the Communist Government of China?

How should China repay her war debt?

These were some of the questions raised and discussed at the first meeting during 1946 of the Maryland Regional International Relations Club Conference.

Senator Radcliffe Speaker

Speaker at the assembly was the Honorable George L. Radcliffe, U.S. Senator from Maryland. The meeting took place in Mergenthaler Hall on the Campus of Johns Hopkins University on Sunday, January 20, at 4 p. m.

Under discussion was the topic "What Should Be Our Policy With China?"

William Kerpelman, of the Hopkins IRC group, acted as Chairman. Leading the discussion was another JHU delegate, Kenneth Paigen.

Eight Schools Represented

Delegates from eight colleges in Maryland were in attendance to express their views on Chinese Policy.

Schools represented were: Johns Hopkins University, the host college, Notre Dame of Maryland College, Mount Saint Agnes Junior College, Goucher College, Towson State Teachers College, Mount Saint Mary's College and Mount Saint Joseph's College, both from Emmitsburg, Maryland, and Loyola College.

by hand and transport them in baskets on poles slung over their shoulders. There were literally thousands of hands. And the fields were excellent."

To build his house, indicated Major Albert, a Chinese merely pours water in a hole in the clay earth, mixes mud, shapes bricks, dries them in the sun and builds his house. The bricks become as hard as real bricks and are not effected by the rains.

Played Softball With Chennault

When not occupied with his duties of saying Masses, administering Absolution to his men and meeting the crashed planes, Major Albert partook in softball games with his men. Several times he played against General Clair Chennault, "a fine pitcher for his age".

Speaking about his new group, the 308th Heavy Bomber Group, Major Albert said, "Many of our men were lost on sea sweeps, many because of difficult flying conditions in China where it is practically impossible to land. Mountains in China are rough, rugged terrain and particularly hazardous because of weather conditions."

"Our men had to use pin point navigation, fly long distances and return with equally accurate navigation to fields that were very small and infrequent. Many fliers bailed out and were never heard from again. Others were brought back by the Chinese underground."

Major Albert is on terminal leave till May 8.

General Bradley Interviewed...

eral indication, he thought, and he had had reports to this effect, but the small colleges were also being filled. Six months ago, the large colleges appeared to be getting the most students, but latest reports signified that now even the small colleges are getting their quotas.

The telephone rang and General Bradley excused himself. At the conclusion of his conversation he explained that "that fellow had served with me in my company in the last war".

Entered West Point In 1911

"How long have you been in the Army, General?"

"I entered West Point in 1911 and was graduated in 1915. I have been in the Army ever since."

"Play any sports?"

"Yes", he replied, "I played on the baseball team for three years."

"What position?"

"Left field", he said. "And I was also substitute center on the football team. Made my letter, too."

An indirect answer was forthcoming to the next query. "What are your personal recommendations to Veterans who are undecided, either because of age or length of time away from school, whether to continue or not?"

"Vets Can Help, Too"

"We hope as many veterans as possible will take advantage of higher education or apprentice training offered them. True, we haven't been able to pay all the men too fast. You see, there was not sufficient expansion of our centers after the rush of V-J Day. We should have been prepared a year ago. However, we are doing our best to straighten out the procedure."

"Veterans themselves can help us if they will mail their records promptly. If, for instance, a man applies to us here in Washington and then goes to the Baltimore office, they are the ones who have to pay him and this must wait until his records can be sent to Baltimore."

"If a man knows beforehand where he is going, and tells us, this will smooth out some delay."

Students Should Have Patience

"Furthermore, we would like to have the school report of the Veteran promptly. We cannot pay a man until the treasurer of the college has sent his bill. Thus there might be a delay of half a month in paying a man. He would get his money at the end of the next month for both months, but there are many little places where we are delayed."

"I hope the students will have a little patience. There is bound to be some delay, but things will finally run smoothly."

As General Bradley finished, I decided to snatch the opportunity I had been waiting for. "Tell me, General, what in your estimation was the most important battle of the European War following the Invasion?"

Beachhead Important Battle

"That isn't exactly to the point", commented the General with a merry laugh. "The landing itself was one", he continued seriously. "Then the operation of breaking out of the beachhead at Saint Lo and destroying the German Seventh Army, enabling us to go to the German border."

"Then there was the operation which started on February 23, broke all the German forces and enabled us to cross the Rhine and sweep to the Elbe. That was all one operation."

Returning to the topic of veterans' education, I presented another question. "Do you think that such Government sponsored education will have any detrimental effects on autonomous educational institutions, say, ten years from now?"

Schools Expanding

"Only in this way", indicated General Bradley. "Some schools are expanding to meet the present backlog. They are expanding their facilities and later on might not need their classrooms."

"We don't know. Maybe the trend will take up this excess. It is hard to prophesy how it will turn out. There is a chance that schools will have unused facilities eight or ten years from now, but some schools taking this into consideration have balanced the cost over a period of eight years. Especially with regard to making room for married students. There are many more married students now than usual."

More Education In Future

"Perhaps," I suggested, "with so many going to school now, there will be a resurgence of higher education later."

"Yes", countered the General. "With the Veterans encouraging their younger brothers and friends. I think this will be true."

"I wanted to know one other thing, sir. What do you think should be our policy now that the war is won. Should we continue to police the defeated countries, and if so, how long?"

Must Occupy Germany

"It cost much in money and lives to win this war", stated General Bradley. "We should go easy in taking imprudent steps that will jeopardize the peace. We can't pull out of Germany too quickly and let them build up their armaments for another war. Otherwise we will not reap the full fruits of our victory."

"Let us set up the United Nations Organization, but until this organization is effectively set up, until then, we must continue our occupation so as to enforce our orders."

As I rose to leave, I asked General Bradley if he ever happened to be in Baltimore, to come out and visit our Guidance Center at Loyola.

Would Like To Visit Schools

"There is nothing I should like better than to visit all the schools that have veterans", he declared enthusiastically. "But this would be impossible, for I should not be able to keep all my invitations."

We faced each other and shook hands. "Thank you very much, General Bradley."

Think Of Baltimore And Biology You Guessed It! Father Didusch

by E. Paul Coffay, Jr.

You don't have to look far to find Baltimore's home town professor who made good at Loyola. He is the Rev. Joseph S. Didusch, S.J., professor of Biology at Evergreen.

Father Didusch came to Loyola in 1935. Not only has he instructed the many college pre-medical students in such subjects as Biology, Bacteriology, Comparative Anatomy, Histology and Embryology, but he has held the moderatorship of the Mendel Club for the past decade and more recently was acclaimed moderator of the Alumni Physicians Group. He is also on the Board of Trustees of Loyola.

Was Graduated From Loyola

Born in Baltimore in 1879, the second of a family of nine, Fr. Didusch went to St. James parochial school, continued on at Loyola High School and was graduated from Loyola College in June, 1898, with a bachelor of science degree.

Recalling fond memories of his college days, Father Didusch notes, "I remember once in particular when all the students were given a holiday after the students themselves, by diligent efforts of salesmanship, increased the enrollment of the High School and College to an all time high of 225 students."

Largest Graduating Class—13

Thirteen graduates departed with Fr. Didusch—the largest number, at that time, ever to be graduated.

In August, 1898, Fr. Didusch entered the Society of Jesus and after studies at Frederick, Maryland and Woodstock College, plus various teaching positions, he was ordained on June 25, 1912.

His first Mass was celebrated in the chapel at Woodstock, since, as he explained, "at that time newly ordained priests were not allowed to celebrate their first Mass in their own parish Church."

Dean At St. Joseph's

From Woodstock, after another year of study, Father Didusch went to St. Joseph's in Philadelphia as Dean of the High School and College.

At Poughkeepsie, the following year, he took his tertianship, returning to St. Joseph's for ten years as chemistry and biology instructor.

Georgetown Medical and Dental Schools claimed him as Dean in 1926. Father remarked that during that year there were 1300 applications for freshman classes. From that number, only 100 could be selected.

"It was a very difficult choice", he added.

Rector Of Wernersville

Father Didusch was Dean of the Philosophers at Woodstock in 1927 and Rector of Wernersville, Pennsylvania, from 1930 till 1935, before coming to Loyola.

Noted as a writer and lecturer, Father Didusch composed the Province Syllabus for Biology in 1923, a work still used in Jesuit High Schools today.

He has lectured to Biology groups in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Chicago, and most of his lectures are published in the Maryland Natural History Magazine.
